Borrowed Time

Architects

I'm looking back on a time when I could say I actually thought
I cared about you
But after everything I've been put though
I realise that I've been living with false hope
It's drowning out my senses
It's drowning out my thoughts

This has got, oh so confusing
And I've only got myself to blame
I can't believe...oh what was I thinking?
I've only got myself to blame

You mean nothing to me
And you never fucking did
Oh, you mean nothing to me
And you never fucking did

I can't stand to listen to your excuses anymore
I can't stand to listen to your excuses anymore, no
I can only pray that you feel so alone
A guilty conscience hangs over your head
I can't believe...oh what was I thinking?
I've only got myself to blame
I've only got myself to blame
But maybe I'm the only one to blame in all of this
I've got nothing to depend on anymore
I've got nothing to depend on anymore

I realise that I've been living with false hope
It's drowning out my senses
It's drowning out my thoughts
I've got nothing to depend on anymore

You mean nothing to me
And you never fucking did
