

Leaving

A Life Divided

Leaving

I cannot stand this feeling

I'm bored of life

Is someone there to lead me

To where I'd like

I don't dare to fly

Breathing

The same old damned air tonight

Seeking the door to another side

Day in sight

Clouds collide

Being the average son of anyone

I'm fleeing

All the time I'm on the run

Keep the light

Only for a while

I'm freezing

I count the days as they pass by

Feeding my narrow mind with lullabies

Nothing's right

I'm too scared to fly

Days shine brighter

Still not wiser

Keep on breaking

Hell's awaiting

Home's on fire

Shut your lighter

Please don't walk away

Sleeping

All these trials seem to waste my time

Dreaming the story will end up quite right

Starry-eyed

So lost in lies

I'm feeling

That I couldn't go on otherwise

Fading in this city of weary minds

Nothing's right

I don't care to fly