Pieces

A Life Divided

In this darkened room Hope is hard to find Sense of guilt's tearing you Can't turn back the time

You put the blame on you 'cause it's all that's left to do Now he went away You're an unenviable fake And your mission a mistake Got nothing good to do

Hide away I die away My way Please cut me in pieces Hide away I'll find a way To die away Please cut me in pieces

On your liar's chair The air is getting thin And words inside your ears Keep on echoing Just like everything you do Is just egoism's fuel I am so ashamed I can't take the blame away It's on your shoulders there to stay On no one else but you