

Song for Ever

Aaron

Hello darkness what's your name today,
I heard you were back in town,
I was fearless you had stepped away,
But nothings lasts and you're back now,
I got rain in my eyes as,
Tears fall from the sky,
Well, Nothings means anything,
Now, The world is upside down.

And it's,
Too hard to talk about it,
Too wild to analyse,
She's living in my head now,
And it surely makes me sad.

Last night I woke up and I felt alone,
There's some piece of my heart that's gone,
I say I am a homeless man,
Your shadow left my side,
The spell is broken and I can see,
There's is so much pain now that you're free,
Surrounded by castles of rain,
I'm on the tearful train again.

And it's,
Too hard to talk about it,
Too wild to analyse,
She's living in a dream now,
And it surely makes me sad.

I don't know how to manage me,
You took the key, Swam to the sea,
Today's the day I hit the floor,
Don't think I can fly anymore,
You gave me rules I won't forget,
That dreams are real, that life's a bet,
Music was your life , your land,
I say this is your song my friend.

And it's,
Too hard to talk about it,
Too wild to analyse,
She's living in my head now,
And it surely makes me sad...
