Eructations of Carnal Artistry

Aborted

Random torture, suffer by my hand Slicing and cutting, submit to my torment Pierced with nails, wired to the celing Reincarnated puppet, patched human being Vacilating on the verge in a blaze of gory Moulding the eructations of my carnal artistry

Gathering the insides, winnowing inferior guts I sever and dismember, hack fervidly with gasping cuts

Muscular limbs, a perfect casket The slenderest torso, how fanatic can I get ? Diffirent corporal parts, agglutinated with suture From a mental delusion to a morbid stature

Rashes of skin, stiched from within I'm pulling the strings, resurgence spreads its wings Veins are dangling, bloody chunks exfoliate Its countenace purses, the artefact expectorates My creative is urge fed by engineering the dead Excessive gore is what I need to nurture my carnarstistic need