You were the reason I opened my eyes.

These hand are shaking. From carrying hope. It seems I've lost the visions of a new beginning.

I try to get myself back up but these thoughts they drag me down. And I am fighting every second that I live without you now. I will struggle a lifetime.

I will never forget your touch. You are in my heart! I never let go of your love. Always in my heart!

These eyes have been searching for a reason to carry on with a broken heart.

And these feet, these feet are running i circles with a the mind that's giving in.

I would cut my throat if it brought brought her back again.

I will never forget your touch. You are in my heart! I never let go of your love. Always in my heart!

I would cut my throat
If it will would bring her back!

Tonight I see the sun set the skyline on fire, and all I can think about is where you will be when darkness  $\mbox{\it em}$  brace you.

Tonight i see the sun set the skyline on fire, and all I can think about is where you will be when darkness  $\operatorname{\mathsf{em}}$  brace you