Daddy's Little Girl

Against All Authority

she used to stand with a knife in her hand at the foot of his bed she wanted him dead for what he stole from her when she was only 10 now it's 4 years later and it happens much too much too often her bed he visits when he's drunk and it feels more like a coffin — and if she gouged out of his fuckin` eyes would it help him see all the pain the shame and the fuckin` misery she hates this fuckin` world she's daddy's little girl now she's a wreck we can connect I don't know what she's feelin' she concealed their little secret but it's more than her body he's stealing I wanted to die the day she cried in my arms when she broke down now she flinches when I touch her and she don't want me around