Let's assume you were right

And play the game of charm and strange and satellite

And when we've all had our fun

Deflate the stars and put away the sun

And so, we can call it a day

'Cause I'll never prove that my motives were pure
So let's remove any question of cure
'Cause even though you've made it pretty obscure
Baby, it's clear
From here
You're losing your atmosphere
From here
You're losing it

So let's assume it was true
'Cause baby can't lift up a hand to swear to you
And what's the use of defense
The hangers-on are too far gone for evidence
And that one was lost from the first

'Cause I'll never prove that my motives were pure So let's remove any question of cure 'Cause even though you've made it pretty obscure Baby, it's clear From here You're losing your atmosphere From here You're losing it

So have it your way
Shatever makes the best résumé
Whatever you can throw in
Wash, rinse and spin til it's spun away
Okay
But I won't be sticking around

'Cause I'll never prove that my motives were pure So let's remove any question of cure 'Cause even though you've made it pretty obscure Baby, it's clear From here You're losing your atmosphere From here You're losing it
