Vestige

Alesana

Washed on a shore of enchanted lies and I am breathless Struggling for reason How could it be such a wondrous place is trapped in silence? Give them redemption

Time is melting away, I can't explain But my eyes are begging to stay I must say a sunny day helps to push the memories away

I can't imagine my leaving here, It sounds so peaceful, living in solace A perfect vision of ecstasy, a dreamy palace Home to the soulless

Time is melting away, I can't explain But my eyes are begging to stay I must say a sunny day helps to push the memories away

Walk along the shore of an ocean of rage Gazing in amazement at each screaming wave Everywhere I look there's agony and pain What's the point of fighting when there's nothing to save?

Time is melting away, I can't explain But my eyes are begging to stay I must say a sunny day helps to push the memories away

Caution must be obeyed... On an island of the decayed...