

Bittersweet Melody

Alex Gaudino

Your voice seems like a melody
Slowly eating away at the fabric of my mind
Peacefully I go into the night
Transfix by your side
And this anxiety is just too hard to maintain
And I'm addicted to every part of you
What makes it bad sometimes makes it good
There is no way you could understand
Unless you've been inside my shoes
Everytime I try to run and hide you pull me deeper inside
Catch me cuz I'm falling
Can you save me someone please

Somebody has to pray
Somebody has to fall
Somebody has to cry
One of us has to be the loser
Somebody has to change
One of us cannot win
Nobody goes unscathed
Your love is a bittersweet melody

Tragedy has become a common place
And there is no one to blame
Cuz I think I'm falling in love with the idea of your pain
That you bring to me
I feel high
Like I'm falling off a mountain top
And I'm addicted to this kind of game
The way I feel is such a shame
Pathetic and useless I try to find some way to break your spell
But I guess I should be happy
Some people never feel such ecstasy
When I hear your voice it fills me with the bittersweet melody

Somebody has to pray
Somebody has to fall
Somebody has to cry
One of us has to be the loser
Somebody has to change
One of us cannot win
Nobody goes unscathed
Your love is a bittersweet melody

A sweet melody of love
Your voice sings to me
