All The Way Around

Ali Lohan

Ooooh yeah
I should have known it was you all along
I didn't know what I had till it was gone
Now I'm fallin down, fallin down, fallin down

And the trouble with the truth that you face
Is that you're haunted by all your mistakes
And now I'm callin out, callin out
But you can't be found, can't be found

Those nights those days will not be replaced
When I throw them away

I had to go all the way around
I had to go all the way around
Just to figure out how to get back where I started from
I had to search higher and low
I had to search everywhere to know
That everything I wanted was what I had
(Had to go) all the way around just to get back where I started from

All the way around
All the way around
All the way around
Just to get back where I started from
Just to get back where I started from

Would you listen to a heart that has learned
Could you give another chance to this girl
I'm so sorry now, sorry now, sorry now

Can't believe that I might be too late
I see my future when I'm starin at your face
I'm not letting go cuz we belong
I was a fool baby
I was wrong

And these arms they ache
And this soul is in pain
Cuz I threw the best thing I ever had away

I had to go all the way around
I had to go all the way around
Just to figure out how to get back where I started from
I had to search higher and low
I had to search everywhere to know
That everything I wanted I was what I had
(Had to go) all the way around just to get back where I started from

All the way around
All the way around
All the way around
Just to get back where I started from
Just to get back where I started from x2

Ohh and these arms they ache
And this soul is in pain

Cuz I threw the best thing I ever had away

I had to go all the way around
I had to go all the way around
Just to figure out how to get back where I started from
I had to search higher and low
I had to search everywhere to know
That everything I wanted was what I had
(Had to go) all the way around just to get back where I started from

All the way around
All the way around
All the way around
Just to get back where I started from
Just to get back where I started from x2