

Walking on the Sky

Alter Bridge

You have wondered in a storm
Are you fearless anymore
Though you don't need to escape
All these questions still remain

The question still remains

Do you feel alive
Tempting your fate on the line
Pushing death to the fray
Making one last great escape

Above the ground you see the world
You feel a rush of every turn
And if you fall at least you try
As you tremble on the wire

Walking on the sky

Do you feel alive
Tempting your fate on the line
Pushing death to the fray
Making one last great escape

Here you stand all alone
Above the crowd the air is cold
Losing balance
Where you can't let go

Here and now
In the clouds
You have found
Your escape
For all you give
It's worth the risk
At least you've lived
Your own way

You're on the line
Walking on the sky

Do you feel alive
Tempting your fate on the line
Pushing death to the fray
Making one last great escape
