

In My Life

Ambrosia

Here I am, turning one more page of time Once again, I need some thing to ease my mind And though I pray, I don't believe the words I say anymore to my God Still I call out your name
I'm still here, I don't need you to be strong I'll stay near, and help you carry on

In my life, help me when I lose my way lay your hands, over me and ease the pain when I go, across the fields I used to know will you love me so well, in your way

When I rise, I feel a shadow over me in these eyes, the churning of a restless sea dark and cold, still somehow I need to know what I lose in this world, lives somewhere in my soul

I'm still here, I don't need you to be strong I'll stay near, and help you carry on

lay your hands, over me and ease the pain
will you love me so well, in your way

and I don't know, anymore
still I call out your name raise your eyes, in the distance you will see those dark skys, don't go on endlessly

In my life, help me when I lose my way
lay your hands, over me and ease the pain

love me so well in your way...
