Company

America

Some can see it's poetry Come as you are in your broken car The company

Carousel is wishing well As a wonder night that spoke delight To the company

Can you hear the summer calling you Can you hear him call you now Can you hear the summer calling you Can you hear him call you now

Broken dream, just a token scheme Silver man with a telegram For the company

Scalding blue, come talk to you Search the cave for the grave Of the company

Can you hear the summer calling you Can you hear him call you now Can you hear the summer calling you Can you hear him call you now

Can you hear the summer calling you Can you hear him call you now Can you hear the summer calling you Can you hear him call you now

Can you hear the summer calling you Can you hear him call you now Can you hear the summer calling you Can you hear him call you now
