Varyags of Miklagaard

Amon Amarth

Miklagaard has been our home For twenty years or more We've lent our axes, spears and swords In service of the emperor

We are loyal warriors That's the oath we gave To protect the emperor Even to a violent grave

Our loyalty was always firm We kept our given word On these southern battlefields Our northern war cries roared

Battles have been fought
Many gave their lives
But all who died by axe and sword
Were called to hall up high

Our time here
Is now at end
Can't help but reminisce
A cold spring day
So long ago
When we set out to sea

We!

Set out from Svitjod's Shores!
With dreams of fame and Gold!
And!
The work of weaving
Norn's!
Was for us unknown

We were loyal warriors That's the oath we gave To protect the emperor Even to the grave

It's time to take farewell We have been resolved From the sacred oath we gave It's time to go back home

Out time here
Is now at end
Our memories will stay
Of Miklagaard
Our southern home
Until the end of days

We!

Set out for Svitjod's Shores!

With honor and Rewards!
We return back Home!
We return back Home!
With honor and Rewards!
We return back Home!
