

Northern Lights

Amorphis

See me floating back to where it all started
Watch the moon and kiss the shadows behind
Let her touch you let her take your soul
Forget yourself and just keep on moving

Hear the whisper it tells you where to go
Do what thou with shall be the whole of the law

Blinded by the northern lights
Welcome to the eternal night
Close your eyes and you'll see more
I have always been here before
Still dark around me but so bright
I've got the spirits on my side
There's nothing that I need to hide
As I see the black sun arise

Hunting answers all the secrets revealed
Watch the eyes of him who lies beneath
Bow before the horns and you'll be reborn
Now you've heard my moonlight serenade