

Remember

Anna Graceman

Put words down, wear a crown
Claim my glory with only a frown
Only a frown
Free to try, tall as the sky
Sayin' I'm happy is simply a lie
Simply a lie

Lookin' through a kaleidoscope
Tryna grasp hold of some hope
Wanting to give up and say that it's over
Wishing for peace and closure
Knowing the worst is yet to come
Forgetting the roots that I come from
Hating the words that were said last November
Forgive but don't forget, remember

Heart of gold, innocence sold
Payin' the price for bein' so bold
Bein' so bold
Flying sparks and question marks
Lost and held captive by things of the dark
Things of the dark
Woah, yeah, yeah-yeah

Lookin' through a kaleidoscope
Tryna grasp hold of some hope
Wanting to give up and say that it's over
Wishing for peace and closure
Knowing the worst is yet to come
Forgetting the roots that I come from
Hating the words that were said last November
Forgive but don't forget, remember
Oh, remember

Tongue tied, please decide
What's going to become of me?
So confused with too much to lose
We both have eyes to see
Blinded, my heart isn't lost
I've confined it

Lookin' through a kaleidoscope
Tryna grasp hold of some hope
Wanting to give up and say that it's over
Wishing for peace and closure
Knowing the worst is yet to come
Forgetting the roots that I come from
Hating the words that were said last November
Forgive but don't forget, remember
Oh, remember
