

A Voice To Calm You Down

Anna Ternheim

By the end of the day
Left only with my godless mind
On my way home again

By the end of the night
A fallen star is your guiding light
The way is not yours to find

A voice is calming you down,
A voice from deep down

Open your mind now
Let it calm you down,
Keep you calm now

By the end of it all
On your knees or running fast
Either caught or escaping your past
By the end who will give you answers
When human senses fail
By the end who will give you answers
When human senses fail