

Nobody's Right

Anthem Lights

Everybody's got opinions
How they think that they should be
Read this, watch that, click here
And think like me
Got some friends seeing red
And some others feeling blue
Everybody sounds so certain
But I don't know what to do

We try to have all the answers
But why are we afraid to ask?

Do we have to choose a side?
Aren't we all trying to do the same thing?
Is it really worth the fight?
What would happen if we start listening?
Is it always black or white?
Sometimes it's just more complicated
If we all think everybody else is wrong
Nobody's right

I'm not saying it don't matter
I think we all should be informed
I'm just saying leave some space
Cause we've all been wrong before

I know we don't have all the answers
But I hope that we're not afraid to ask

Do we have to choose a side?
Aren't we all trying to do the same thing?
Is it really worth the fight?
What would happen if we start listening?
Is it always black or white?
Sometimes it's just more complicated
If we all think everybody else is wrong
Nobody's right

Talk less, love more, seek truth
Be the change that you want to see
Talk less, love more, seek truth
Be the change that you want to see
Talk less, love more, seek truth
Be the change that you want to see

Do we have to choose a side?
Aren't we all trying to do the same thing?
Is it really worth the fight
What would happen if we start listening?
Is it always black or white?
Sometimes it's just more complicated
If we all think everybody else is wrong
If we all think everybody else is wrong
Nobody's right