

You Turn Me Around

Aqualung

The end, it was the end
The sirens were pulling him down
And his heart was so cold
So very cold, you'd believe it might never have beat.

When the sun sets around me,
My daydreams confound me,
And the long night surrounds me,
You turn me around.

And you; she was there too
Drowning and wanting it over.
And her hope was all lost
All hope was lost
Given up and never again

When the sun sets around me,
My daydreams confound me,
And the long night surrounds me,
You turn me around.

But watch as fingertips touch
And the life floods in
And they swim to the sun

Oh, and the long night surrounds me
You turn me around

I won't let you down
I won't let you down
You turn me around
