

Don't Wake Me

Aranda

Three seconds from a heart attack
And he just got pain
His soul turns from blue and black, turning down the pain
At the end of resistance, a needle in his vein
Three seconds from a heart attack
No one left to blame

He drowns in this emptiness
His soul screaming softly
This day soon he will forget
[x2]

Three seconds from a heart attack
She's freaking out again
She swore to God she'll never go back
The light is getting dim
At the edge of existence, she's just a shallow way
Three seconds from a heart attack
There's no one left to blame

She drowns in this emptiness
Her soul screaming softly
This day soon she will forget
Don't wake me
[x2]

I'm three seconds from a heart attack
And I just got pain
My soul turns from blue to black
There's no one left to blame

I drown in this emptiness
My soul screaming softly
This day soon I will forget
Don't wake me
[x2]