

Couldn't Have Her

Ari Hest

We talked about beginning
Forgot about the end
We held to each other
There was no pretend
We filled all the spaces
That used to be years
With sounds of forever
The stop to our fears
But her eyes in the summer fell suddenly gray,
And I

Couldn't have Her
Couldn't have her
Why must we run like horses

I asked for a reason
And she gave me none
Could not have been more certain
That she was the one
I looked to my loved ones
For answers for strength
And no one could tell me
How to handle the day
Now I can't sleep without her,
I never thought that I, Oh that I

Couldn't have Her, couldn't have her
Why must we run like horses
Falling to pieces it forces
Me to listen up

It's not a religion
It's just how you feel
You don't know till it's over
If it was real
And you want to embrace it
You cannot deny
That all of those moments
Were just a goodbye

Couldn't have Her, couldn't have her
Why must we run like horses
Falling to pieces it forces
Me to listen up
