

Abigail, knew too well
What Zach was thinking
She watched his eyes
Stare at his empty, uneasy hand
He started sinking
In his chair, she knew Zach cared
But Didn't know he was afraid
Of what tomorrow held
Well he'd feel better
If he stayed

And Abby wondered aloud
Where did all the good plans go
What do you feel
I know you know

Elevator music plays, in the food court in a mall
It was covering the empty sound of no conversation at all
And back to work, she said to Zach
My break's almost done
Oh Abigail I only wish you knew where I was coming from

And Abby wanted to know
Where did all the good plans go?
What do you feel
I know you know

Then he turned and said,
I'll go home instead, Abigail, you're not making sense
My love, what have we become?
My love, what have we become?

Where did all the good plans go?
What do you feel
I know you know
