

Once Upon A Time

Arwen

There is a goblin who a wonderous story tells of a witch and a forest and how on it she puts evil spells

Then sadness arrived there she blackened the skies there and the tears of a mountains she turned to ice all that magic and fantasy vanished the smell of the flowers and music of birds

Children of the blue moon unite your dreams with your tender hands recall all your desires and smile happily once again

While the essence of that spell silenced the whisper of the trees unicorns galloped looking for other lands in which to be free

And time left that place and winter came to stay (the) mist covered the valley with darkness

(And a) sweet young princess cried like no othr in the light of the moon listening to the fairies cry

unite your dreams with your tender hands
recall all your desires and smile
happily once again

Where are you my great moon tell me if you have seen the sun now I am a princess without light I left my memories fly away

My sadness drows with my tears green emerald I need to see you once again I want to see the rainbow in the sky and listen to the song of water flowing from a stream where are you long lost hope, ray of light magic of the place where I learnt to dream

unite your dreams with your tender hands
recall all your desires and smile
happily once again

Draw a world full of life where (the) land is green and
(the) sea is blue someday you will see a great paradise grow all around you
