

(All Seems So) Hollow

Asrai

All seems so Hollow

will it stay this way?
all seems so hollow

my violative soul's tormented by a winter long like a hailstorm in my head the world cracks down on me and as the rain falls down the pain seems never ending I'm cursing every day that's not the day my tragedy will end

I can't believe that - it will go on this way? my life so hollow - and I'm just a shade (and) - all colors turned to grey I can't believe that - one day I break the chains
'cause now the sun is just a blinding stain but too bright to wipe it away

I can see the pale sunlight on the horizon of my dreams is that the promised wonderland - (and) is it as pleasing as it seems?

but I just can't escape it's hard to light a darkened mind my world that's full of shades where I find shelter anytime

I can't believe that - it will go on this way? my life so hollow -
and I'm just a shade (and) - all colors turned to grey
I can't believe that - one day I break the chains
'cause now the sun is just a blinding stain -
but too bright to wipe it away

I can't believe that - it will go on this way?
my life so hollow -
and I'm just a shade (and) - all colors turned to grey I can't believe that - one day I break away 'cause when the sun is just a blinding memory I'll be a cold grey empty frame