If It Takes All Night

This could be the start of something wild I can see the spectrum in your eyes I won't let you leave until you're mine You're gonna love me if it takes all night

If it takes all night If it takes all night If it takes all night You're gonna love me If it takes all night

Temporary blindness from your light The universe is built for us tonight I won't let you go without a fight You're gonna love me if it takes all night

If it takes all night If it takes all night If it takes all night You're gonna love me If it takes all night
