

The Curtain Close

Automatic Loveletter

Please, pour a drink for the night
This is the ending where we say goodbye
Bid me farewell
Tell me all is alright
Cause I'll be flying solo tonight
And in the morning I'll rise
To shine just as bright

This life
When it's all begun from the overload
We were so turned on at the ending show
So we'll leave with a bang at the curtain close
They say we're too young to know

Raise with your hands in the air
We'll engage
Mmmmm
To blow the tyrants and his minions away
We are the knights of dukes that rise in the maze
So take the map from all of your fates
Surrender, pull a check mate
Shakespeare thought he'd never stay
But, baby, believe

This life
When it's all begun from the overload
We were so turned on at the ending show
So we'll leave with a bang at the curtain close
They say we're too young to know

What it feels like to cry and cry
But we'll change our ways tonight
So strong and so so cold out these days
But we'll change our ways
Because the kids will take their monsters on
With all swords drawn we'll show them all
How we'll show them
How we'll show them

Singing good, good night
So long and farewell
Singing good, good night
So long and farewell
Singing good, good night
So long and farewell
Singing good, good night
So long and farewell
Singing good, good night
So long and farewell
Singing good, good night
So long and farewell
Singing good, good night
So long and farewell
So long
