

Taken

Avail

Been trying all night
To make you listen
Say you know me now
I don't know myself
A fight an hour
The lust of power
I won't play the part
Of deeply scarred

'Cause I don't think I will be back again
Your words don't bring content
You've said them so blindly as I have bled
And despise all that you've said

I've got a new thing
I've got a new thing
I've got a new thing

I'm over listening
I call it quits

And I don't think I will be back again
Your words don't bring content
You've said them so blindly as I have bled
And despise what you've said

Have you ever been kicked when you're already down?
You see it come
But you dare not make a sound
Remain standing
And put a foot to the face that
Did the pushing and then pass
If silence is gained
It's overwhelming

I don't think I will be back again
Your words don't bring content
You've said them so blindly as I have bled
And despise all that you've said

Have you ever been kicked when you're already down?
You see it come
But you dare not make a sound
Have you ever been kicked when you're already down?
You see it come
But you dare not make a sound
Remain standing

You have taken a piece of me
