Shelter From The Rain

Avantasia

Like a wheel I keep on turning Straight ahead It's got me burning the melody, the dignity Something is speaking to me

Night is cold and my soul is battered Not afraid for the first time now that I realize We coincide I'll never belong to the tribe

And my soul is calling the truth this ship of fools

Been dying for a sign When faith has been on the line When you find your love on wasted grounds You're taking to the sound it's shelter from the rain

No return from the way I've chosen Cast away chasing rainbows Condemn the lie How could I Make up believe I am blind

We create by intuition Calling fate The dark of fate is in your soul Feeling cross out Carry on over the cry All that's left is a sun Giving shelter from the rain then

Been dying for a sign When faith has been on the line When you find your love on wasted grounds You're taking to the sound it's shelter from the rain

It's a dark and stormy night Ain't it funny what it takes to read the signs But I am always there I am the footprints to your right Man overlooks when riding high Young and blind

In your darkest lonely night Hear the voice to take you higher Take you higher As you stumble trough the ruins Let the spirit take you higher And the song

Oh, and the song I can hear a song

Dying for a sign When faith has been on the line When you find your love on wasted grounds You're taking to the sound it's shelter from the rain

Dying for a sign When faith has been on the line When you find your love on wasted grounds You're taking to the sound it's shelter from the rain
