

A Statue of the King

Avatar

On this glorious day we're all citizens
By all your warrior's names we swear diligence
Lay the first stone, we lay at your feet
All the world trembles, begs and flees

Everybody wants one
Everybody needs one
Everybody heard the word, it's absurd!
But no one else can make one
They don't know how to take one
But I know that you know
You know! And I know that

Everybody wants one
Everybody needs one
But they lack proper stone, and rocks, and balls
So they can all just dream on
We don't want to share one
We all worked too hard, so hard, I'm hard!

Harder than steel is my king's will

Adversaries, dignitaries, ladies and gentlemen
My beloved citizens
It is time to ignite the mighty flame
Of the royal beacon
And then unveil the statue of our ruler
We celebrate, we've built
A statue of the king

Bigger than the last one
Bigger than the best one
Bigger than the dreams we dream to the extreme
There's nothing to compare to
No one could prepare you
But I know that you know
You know! And I know it's

Bigger than the last one
Bigger than the best one
Made with proper stone, and rocks, and balls
So you can try to make one
Cause we ain't gonna share one
We all worked too hard, so hard, I'm hard!

Adversaries, dignitaries, ladies and gentlemen
My beloved citizens
It is time to ignite the mighty flame
Of the royal beacon
And then unveil the statue of our ruler
We celebrate, we've built
A statue of the king

Harder than steel is my king's will

Adversaries, dignitaries, ladies and gentlemen
My beloved citizens

It is time to ignite the mighty flame
Of the royal beacon
And then unveil the statue of our ruler
We celebrate, we've built
A statue of the king