

Wormhole

Avatar

The propulsion is broken
We implode
No one cares
Abandon all hope
Just don't abandon me

A sickness I used to know
Sickness inside the heart
One million miles ago
And one million years apart

The wormhole
The wormhole is closing

There's no navigator
The starlight is lost
No one's left
Everything's gone
You're doomed, so stay with me

A sickness I used to know
Sickness inside the heart
One million miles ago
And one million years apart

The wormhole
The wormhole is closing

We built pillars to the sky as a final attempt
To take off upon the solar winds
What no one realized at the time
Was that the earthly structures took the shape of a mausoleum
Banished from the vacuum void we once came from
Our caskets were petroleum

A sickness I used to know
Sickness inside the heart
One million miles ago
And one million years apart

A sickness I used to know
Sickness inside the heart
One million miles ago
And one million years apart

The wormhole
The wormhole is closing
