

Follow You Down

Aviators

All my patience has long since been drowned
My world has been turned upside down
All that I knew
All we know now
Nothing but grains in the sand

Hope fell apart
And all I could feel
Was my faint, broken heart
So what's left to lose but my mind?
Now that I know
What will become
I understand

Send me a message
I'll keep holding on
I'd crawl through to save you, but
I'm not that strong
They told me I've lost you
Yet here you are now
So light up the way and I'll
Follow you down

Somewhere inside the fractured abyss
You call through depths and the mist
And I can hear you now
I'd die to lead you out
Of the danger below

Have I kept my own sanity?
These old lights on the walls call to me
Words I can comprehend
A message from the end
Through the horror we know

Send me a message
I'll keep holding on
I'd crawl through to save you, but
I'm not that strong
They told me I've lost you
Yet here you are now
So light up the way and I'll
Follow you down

Out of my element
Stunned in bewilderment
Robbed from the wild
Of my suffering child
Have humans created this
Lost place so perilous?
Follow the lights
Back to the outside

I don't know how to save you
I can't seem to break through
I'm not strong enough
I'm not strong enough tonight

Send me a message
I'll keep holding on
I'd crawl through to save you, but
I'm not that strong
They told me I've lost you
Yet here you are now
So light up the way and I'll
Follow you down

Send me a message
I'll keep holding on
I'd crawl through to save you, but
I'm not that strong
They told me I've lost you
Yet here you are now
So light up the way and I'll
Follow you down
