

I Don't Want to Hurt You

Aviators

The rain feels colder now
The plague has left this town
I'll heal you
I'll heal you
The red and poisoned sea
Calls to the hate in me
I'll break you
I'll break you
Headstrong for the comedown
Mind heavy with a faint sound
I'll hear you
In your prayers tonight
Bastion of the white lie
Heads turning with a blind eye
I'll see you
In the candlelight

I don't want to hurt you
But I can't stay away
I don't have the strength
To know myself and keep you safe
So wherever you are now
I hope you will forget
The flaws I had before
Because I haven't lost them yet

The devil's fever dream
Holds the most cursed fiends
I know this
Symptom only mine
In crimson memories
The watcher always sees
The fallout
That I leave behind
Burned palms of the wasteland
Floods rise to the blood on my hands
And I want to forget you
Or take you far away
Safety for when I fail
World's gone with the last death knell
The distance
I could never stay

I don't want to hurt you
But I can't stay away
I don't have the strength
To know myself and keep you safe
So wherever you are now
I hope you will forget
The flaws I had before
Because I haven't lost them yet

Somebody's gonna get hurt
In the wake of my emotions
In this bottomless sky
In all your memories, I
Am a distant ghost behind you

Through the veil of my lies
I could pretend that I'm cut
But the truth is I can't feel it
Am I something less than real?
There is a part of me left
That remembers how to love you
And the memories heal
My spirit in the darkness
Is in a prison I must know
To run to you, free
But I don't want to be free

Not really
Not really

Not even in my dreams
I don't wanna be free

Not really

I don't want to be free
Not really
Not even in my dreams

I don't want to be
I don't want to break free tonight
I'm safer in the dark
When I can't see in the light

I don't want to hurt you
But I can't stay away
I don't have the strength
To know myself and keep you safe
So wherever you are now
I hope you will forget
The flaws I had before
Because I haven't lost them yet