Fire and Ice

Stay where you are And hear the natural sounds Blowin' in your ears And if you try to understand Be captured by unknown fears Cause our world has changed its face Day by day See the signs all around The nature strikes back Fire and ice Cold and heat Hunger and war Like a drop on a burnin' stone We'll vanish in the universe Are we the owner of our own? No, that's not mankind's earth Forgotten are all these promises On which we've build our lives Forgotten are all the preachers With all their lies Fire and ice Cold and heat Hunger and war

Axxis