

Lev

Baths

A patternless and endless snow
Tend the fire in our home
I rub where his wings would grow
And push the mud out of his bones

A patternless and endless snow
Tend the fire in our home
I rub where his wings would grow
And push the mud out of his bones