

ENTWINED

Bella Morte

Here I lay awake again
As I wish for days that passed me by
So blind like a million suns alight at night
Watch them fall before my eyes

And I pray to time each night
If I should die before we reunite
Light fires in the dark of afterlife
That I might follow
And that I might find

There must be a way, we are tied
Two souls so much entwined
In death we will find
A song to sing for all of time

Arise as the sun descends
No rest 'til it takes to flight again
To shine light into our dreaming minds
We find what has been here all this time

There must be a way, we are tied
Two souls so much entwined
In death we will find
A song to sing for all of time

There must be a way, we are tied
Two souls so much entwined
In death we will find
A song to sing for all of time

Plans may decay
Paths may lead apart
But hearts never stray
Far from home

Plans may decay
Paths may lead apart
But hearts never stray
Far from home

Hearts never stray
Far from home
