

Line of Sight

Bella Morte

Another path that leads away
Another step toward another yesterday
Eyes are wide, yet none is blinder to the light
Switch it on again, off again
On again, til we find a line of sight

Another starless night begins
Another constellation lost within the sky
And yet I know they lie somewhere beyond
Hope is on again, off again
On again, off again

I know with the years I am fading away
I know it appears the light that shines within
Is fading away
Fade away