I'm just a penny on the train track
Waitin' for my judgement day
Come on baby girl let me see those legs
Before I get flattened away

I wait
Yeah, I wait
For something good, for something great

Stoppin' in somebody's old home town Gotta get that midnight meal If you can't get behind your own life Get behind the driving wheel

And go, just go Find a place that you don't know

Ran into a friend just the other night Got a badge, he's a local cop Haven't seen that boy in over seven years Since out of high school I dropped

I see, I see All the things that I should be

Oh baby dance with me!

Even lucky man has a bad day
And pretty girl has a scar
After that train comes and takes me away
Pick up that guitar

And play, just play Play that rock and roll for me

He's in the yard just washin' his car Thinkin' 'bout his pretty wife Makin' lemonade with the kitchen aid Makin' him a perfect life

And it's grim, so dim When you wish that you were just like him

I'm just a penny on the train track
Waitin' for my judgement day
Come on baby girl let me see those legs
Before I get flattened away

I wait, I wait
For something good, for something great

And I try, oh I try
I can't stop, I don't know why
