(Wake up, Wake up) Wake up, Wake up)

Thank God for the day, thank God for the morning Won't take this here for granted no good Lord I gots to get on it

With every breath I take, or move I make, I gots to keep wantin

A better life for me, and all of mine, no time for that yawning In the bed waiting, procrastinating, I gots to be hungry Too old for games that don't mean a thing, can't play with my homies

Just know I'm paying dues if I don't pick up for ya, whenever y ou phone me

Cuz being broke ain't fun and that pity party I threw is starting to get boring
Good morning

I know today gonna be the best day of my life, my life (Wake up, wake up)

I know today gonna be the best day of my life (Wake up, wake up)

Gotta keep my head out the clouds and my feet on the ground

Gotta be realistic, stop talking and listen Cuz at the blink of an eye your life'll pass you by, good Lord you missed it now

You're wishing that you went slow, took advantage of that 2-4 Yeah you gave your all to get your back from off the wall but you can give more

Stand tall against the grain, be yourself don't do the same As the next man cuz all paths are different, so don't jump the train

Hell, we can't complain, for this borrowed time So don't misuse yours, cuz you can't borrow mine Good morning

I know today gonna be the best day of my life, my life (Wake up, wake up)

I know today gonna be the best day of my life (Wake up, wake up)

Gotta keep my head out the clouds and my feet on the ground
