Time Waits for No One

Black Label Society

As the sun sinks Life closes tired eyes As hello turns its back and It greets goodbye

Never wanted to believe Or have to understand Time waits for no one Child, woman or a man

The burdens that gather The crosses that bare

What's given and taken life the Ocean to the sand

No final curtain calls No more storms that rearrange To hold you in my arms and to know that nothings ever gonna change To bend the hands of time So here we stand and through it all I love you now and beyond forever Never wanna believe or have to understand Time waits for no one Child, woman or a man