

Survivor

Blake Lewis

I'm a survivor
From the wars I fought inside
Through the fire
These scars remind me I'm alive
I raise my head high
To protect my heart tonight
We'll never let that get the best of us
When we fight ourselves with love

I try to run, try to hide, try to get away
From the things that I've done
But nothing's simple when your voice is the trigger
And you're deaf to the sound of a gun
All the words in the world couldn't help you unless
You come from the truth
'Cause it's hard to fight when your heart realizes
That the enemy he's fighting is you

I feel the darkness taking hold again
But I hold the light

I'm a survivor
From the wars I fought inside
Through the fire
These scars remind me I'm alive
I raise my head high
To protect my heart tonight
We'll never let that get the best of us
When we fight ourselves with love

There's no one else but yourself
That can help you
To turn it all around
So take a chance take a stack while you can
'Cause all we have is now

I feel the darkness taking hold again
But you hold the light

I'm a survivor
From the wars I fought inside
Through the fire
These scars remind me I'm alive
I raise my head high
To protect my heart tonight
We'll never let that get the best of us
When we fight ourselves with love

It's revolution
So raise your fist up
No surrender, no surrender
Feed your fire
And don't be silent

It's revolution
So raise your fist up

No surrender, no surrender
And don't be silent

I'm a survivor
To protect my heart tonight
We'll never let that get the best of us
