Mouthful of Cavities

Blind Melon

Mouthful of cavities Your soul's a bowl of jokes And everyday you remind me How I'm desperately in need

See, I got a lot of fiends around And they're peaking through nothing new They see you They see everything you do

See everything on the inside, out

Oh, please give me a little more And I'll push away those baby blues Cause one of these days this will die So will me and so will you

I write a letter to a friend of mine I tell him how much I used to love watch him smile

See I haven't seen him smile in a little while

Haven't seen him smile in a little while

But, I know you're laughing from the inside out Laughin' from the inside out I know you're laughing from the inside out Laughing from the inside out