

Nighttime eclipses the sun
A blackened veil allowing her to mourn
Behind empty stoic eyes
And cold crimson lips that slowly hypnotize.

Seduced by her dark caress
All consuming enchantment
Centuries of pain lie in her soulless eyes
Begging to be touched by first light