You Angel You

You angel you You got me under your wing The way you walk and the way you talk I feel I could almost sing.

You angel you You're as fine as anything's fine I just want to watch you talk With your memory on my mind You know, I can't sleep at night for trying.

Yes, I never did feel this way before I never did get up and walk the floor If this is love then give me more And more and more and more.

You angel you You're as fine as can be The way you walk and the way you talk Is the way it ought to be.

You know, I can't sleep at night for trying Never did feel this way before Never did get up and walk the floor If this is love then give me more And more and more and more.

You angel you You got me under your wing The way you walk and the way you talk I swear it makes me sing.

Bob Dylan
