Lament

Bolt Thrower

The time has come to leave this place - Never to return Nothing's left but ashes - My body now is spurned Your sorrow will subside in time - My one, true, only friend There is one thing we can do - To avert this bitter end

Up amongst the stars I dwell - Tranquillity is found I look upon the earth - To which all human life is bound Alone I wander aimlessly - For now my spirit's free My soul exists within you as I guide your destiny

The tears of grief you weep for me - Through uncontrolled emotion

You have given me your all - A life time of devotion So come my friend take my hand - Together we shall see The pathways through the darkness - For all eternity

Eternity