

High Rise

Bowerbirds

Woke up in a posh hotel
The autumn teasing
The long reveal
And I turn around
And there you are
Beyond my dreams
The king and queen of a land called Raleigh
Tracing these lines along your body
No, you'll never know what's coming
'Round the corner tomorrow
But it seems it's going to be alright
Ain't no rules here
No faults or lies
You can see it all clear
In this exchange of eyes
And we codify grace in this high rise
Where we know who we are

No need to know what comes of this
You can't seize the feelings in your armoured chest
When the fire starts blazing, just run to it
And you'll know who you are
Yes, you know your own damn worth
You've been feeding these lines to yourself for years
Then there are days like this here on this beautiful earth
Where you know you are alive
Woke up in a posh hotel
The autumn teasing
The long reveal
And I turn around
And there you are
Beyond my dreams
