Feeding Line

Boy & Bear

My body moves in time We're begging on the feeding line We're lifting out above this head space See my body over flows

But I got my whole damn life Caught up in moments entirely of yours But I'm finding it harder to reason in order to grow And finding it hard is a feeling that all of you know Know know

See my body keeps in line And I got my whole damn life Oh I want to be somebody, somebody, someone You're so desperate now Oh no you won't let it go You bit of your tongue to become one

Nevertheless when this pain in my chest seems to grow I'm living it harder to feel what it feels like to know You know, know, know

The home I lived in I came to grow My body's cumbersome and slow But I felt it felt it coming over me

The home I lived in I came to grow My body's cumbersome and slow But I felt it felt it coming over me

I got my whole damn life Caught up in moments entirely of yours But I'm finding it harder to reason in order to grow And finding it hard is a feeling that all of you know

Nevertheless, when this pain in my chest seems to grow And grow You know, know, know
