

Warren's Song, Pt. 18

Bracket

I know from experience
I can see your resistance
Give me time to heal
Because I'm still torn up inside

Around you there is nothing I need to prove
I can just live vicariously through you
This is my attempt to look on the bright side
I embrace the distance I see in your eyes

We can go through life dying one by one
If I fall behind will I lead someone
To believe that I forgive everyone
When I dream at night
I don't see anyone
Except for you

In every word that you breathe
A lifetime of recovery
Under a scarlet sky
You unveiled my mysteries

Around you there is nothing I need to prove
I can just live vicariously through you
This is my attempt to look on the bright side
I embrace the distance I see in your eyes

We can go through life dying one by one
If I fall behind will I lead someone
To believe that I forgive everyone
When I dream at night
I don't see anyone
Except for you
