

Departed in Decay

Brain Drill

Rotting
In a casket, vile
The ceiling cracks away
Inch by inch, year by year

Breakdown sets in, the stench begins

Departed in decay
Decomposed flesh rots away
The vermin fall onto your face
They crawl into your skull with haste
The insect gorging has begun
They dig in one by one

Foul, discoloration of the cadaver
Skin disappearing and exposing
Green and grey matter

The final stage of a death no one knows
As time goes on, bones are exposed
