

Beginning to Feel the Years

Brandi Carlile

You carry me along with you Keep my spirit strong you do Maybe I was meant to be under your lock and key

The hard times that I had Really don't seem all that bad Yesterday is long ago and far away

And I'm beginning to feel the years
but I'm going to be ok
as long as you're beside me along the way
Going to make it through the night
and into the morning light

There are things that I've said before I don't mean them anymore
Yesterday is long ago and far away

And I'm beginning to feel the years
but I'm going to be ok
as long as you're beside me along the way
Going to make it through the night
and into the morning light

With angels by your side
The spirit's there to guide

I'm beginning to feel the years
but I'm going to be ok
as long as you're beside me along the way
Going to make it through the night
and into the morning light